“ I remember all our fishing trips, all our summers in the garden and swinging in the tree swing he built, all the Sundays at church, all the times my heart was broke and he was there to sweep up the pieces, always there to help me back on my feet, i remember being up some nights rubbing his feet and legs from the neuropathy, all the episodes of Bonanza and the Alabama football games we'd watch, how he loved my grandmother and how much he taught me, how he never could get any fishing done when me n grandmother went. How he ate butter cookies every morning with Mandy his locker spaniel how he drove me to the hospital when I had Koby how he took up for me after my husband had beat me up. How the tornado in 2010 scared us both but I protected him with my body pillow hiding in my bathroom. How he was such a good man and treated everyone kind and worked his whole life and how he loved the Lord and wife and me..he taught me to be honest and do right even when nobody was looking, how to pray and how to love one another and i miss him every day of my life and his biological son Larry who only came around 2 times a year and lives far off in Decatur estates that never checked on him hardly, never called to check on him after tornado or offer to come help me clean up from it or help me rub his aching painful legs, or cook breakfast and supper every day for him or wash his clothes or change his sheets or go shopping for him that treats people terribly bc he thinks he better than everybody and even makes the ugliest faces to go with the ugly way he treats people and gossips about them is the worst hypocritical so called deacon or man of God he claims that ive ever seen. I pray at night that the house I was raised in by my grandparents (Robert mauldin) who legally adopted me at 2 where I lived many many years at with and have endless memories actually causes my brother/uncle nothing but grief n headache for the way he has done me. He is a fake and a fraud and HE knows that house should've went to me im the only one raised there. But I also pray for the way he's treated me n didn't let me come to the funeral the he dies a horrible painful death. I miss u granddaddy so much we will see eachother soon I love u and

Weird how youre the only one who remembers it this way. We all remember the torment and pain YOU caused your entire miserable life. You can wish all the pain and death on whoever you want. You will be judged for all you have done in the end.
